

Letter from the President

Howdy Hyde Park,
We made it! We survived the brutal heat of the Summer and made it to September. Surprisingly, August has not been the scorcher we were expecting. (Confession: I am writing this letter in the middle of the month. Hopefully, we did not experience a high pressure system bringing intense heat and more drought conditions ... or a hurricane.). I'm really looking forward to the Fall and how it will allow for more outdoor dining and drinking in the neighborhood.

We will also be able to enjoy the use of Lamar Park much more in the future. In these pages, check out the news about the proposal to add lighting in the park. I'm really excited that we should have the lights up in time for National Night Out.

I am also excited that we have a new volunteer joining the Board. Andrew Schaper has been a resident of Hyde Park for a number of years, and, like many of you, he wants to do what he can to make this a fantastic place to live. Please join me in congratulating Andrew on being appointed Vice President.

GENERAL MEETINGS

Our next in-person meeting will be on Tuesday, September 6th, at 7 pm upstairs at Rudyard's. Our guest speaker will be Marilu De La Fuente, the Adoption Program Administrator for Houston Parks and Recreation Department's greenspace division.

There will be lots to talk about with Marilu regarding Lamar Park and the newly functioning Dolphin Fountain. I am particularly interested hearing about the latter.

We will also have in attendance Laurel Roseborrough, Librarian and Assistant Manager at the Freed-Montrose Neighborhood Library. You may recall that the previous librarian, Rod Hall, visited with us last November. Laurel would like to introduce herself and reinforce the invitation to visit and use the library. She has provided an update on the construction that we have reproduced in these pages.

I hope to see you there.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Happy hour was truly a happy time. This month, we met up at The Flat on Commonwealth on August 16th for drinks and snacks. There were over 20 of us in attendance! The Flat is a really cool and hip place. You should definitely check it out. (I particularly enjoyed the frozen sangria, though I heard the frozen mojito is very good!). Our next HPCA Happy Hour will be at Brasil (2604 Dunlavy Street) on September 15th starting at 5:00 pm. Drop by any time; we will be there for a while. Have a coffee, an adult beverage or simply a sparkling water.

The Board has discussed expanding the membership offerings to include associate memberships for our pets. We were thinking that the associate members could have an opportunity to be the "pet of the month" for the neighborhood and have their photo included in the newsletter. I think it's a cute idea. What do you think of the idea?

Planning for National Night Out festivities in October is in full swing. Cliff Jones is leading the effort to make the return of National Night Out to Hyde Park a triumph. Those of you who have resided in Hyde Park before the Pandemic may recall that this is a really big event for our neighborhood! It is a great chance to meet the police officers and constables that patrol our neighborhood and provide invaluable services to the community. Moreover, come and meet your neighbors and enjoy delicious food and drinks. The food and drinks are donated by our amazing community restaurants and businesses. We will need volunteers to make all of this happen. Reach out to info@hydeparkhouston.org if you are interested in helping.

Don't forget that we have a Facebook page for members of the Hyde Park Civic Association. It is a private group, so you will need to request access.

VOLUNTEERS AND BOARD VACANCIES

We remain in need of volunteers for the Hyde Park Civic Association, including volunteers to help with National Night Out and filling the vacant roles on the Board. NNO volunteers are needed to solicit food and drink donations, picking up the food donations and setting up and tearing down at the event. Please give some thought to volunteering so that we can put on a successful NNO. If you have any time to give back to our neighborhood by getting involved on the Board or in one of the other volunteer positions is a truly worthwhile endeavor! The vacant roles include Secretary and Membership Chair. Reach out to any of us if you are interested. Stay safe everyone.

See ya,

Chris Delphin, President

Historic Dolphin Fountain is Mid-Century Jewel of Hyde Park

Submitted by Hyde Park resident Pete Gershon

Our neighborhood is home to one of the city's oldest water features, a fountain situated on a small traffic island at the intersection of Waugh and Hyde Park. When it's working, eight equally spaced dolphin-like creatures expectorate into an octagonal water-filled pool, about nine feet in diameter, at the center of which is a decorated two-tier basin tower.

I noticed the fountain right away in the early 2000s when I first landed in the Montrose and was struck by what an odd little oasis it was. I have no recollection of the Hyde Park Funeral Home that at the time still occupied the lot to the north, nor do I remember the post office on the south side of the street, or the Half Price Brooks across the intersection with Waugh, although they all must have been there at the time. Now, except for the intact north side of Hyde Park between Upas and Van Buren, it's townhomes pretty much everywhere around this intersection.

The fountain was a gift to the neighborhood from R. Victor Landig, a prominent funeral director and educator who established the Hyde Park Funeral Home in 1931 at the corner of Waugh and Fairview, expanding a few years later into the fourplex adjacent to the south, on the northeast corner of Waugh and Hyde Park. Landig was a big deal in the mid-century mortuary scene. In 1936, he founded the Landig College of Mortuary Science, which still exists today as the Commonwealth Institute of Funeral Service. Later, he'd coordinate the care of dozens of bodies in the aftermath of the 1947 Texas City oil refinery explosion, and in the early 1950s he published an influential textbook for mortuary students titled Time Changes Everything.

At the close of the National Flower and Garden Exhibitions held at the Sam Houston Coliseum downtown in 1939 and 1940, he purchased a cement fountain constructed to serve as a decoration at the event and persuaded the city to allow him to relocate it to an oblong traffic island opposite his funeral home, the easterly period on the exclamation point of Lamar Park, extending as a boulevard along the block to the west. "I made a deal with the city and moved it," Landig explained to a Houston Chronicle reporter who inquired about the fountain in 1969, "stone by stone, to the present location, got the water connected and had it wired for lighting after we cemented the pieces together in the original design." The fountain was a jewel in the maturing mid-century neighborhood, and a source of comfort for Landig's clientele, with water trickling 24-hours-a-day into a glass-brick basin with submerged neon lights that came on after dark.

The fountain has had its ups and downs in the decades since, with an sympathetic plastering-over over the basin, occasional renovation and repainting (in the '90s, it had a teal, green, and grey color scheme), and long periods of simple neglect. A recent recommitment by the Houston Parks Department to its continued maintenance suggests the neighborhood will be able to enjoy this historic landmark for years to come.

Lamar Park Update

Submitted by Melissa Zarikian

The HPCA Board has approved a plan for the installation of lighting throughout Lamar Park. The lights will be housed in a number of the park trees offering a subtle moonlight glow during the evening, night and early morning hours. The details and plans have been submitted to the Houston Parks Board for final approval and funding. The work is slated to begin end of August, just in time for our upcoming National Night Out being held in Lamar Park!

Update on the New Montrose Library

Submitted by Laurel Roseborrough

Interior construction of the New Montrose library is scheduled to start in November, and total building completion is expected in the second quarter of 2023. We don't have word yet on a date for grand opening, but we will certainly be sharing that date as soon as we have it! We'll be located within the New Montrose Collective Development, and the library will feature reading areas, Technology access, a Children's area, a Teen area, and meeting spaces. If you ever want to drive by to take a look at the area or the building's progress, it's located at 1001 California Street. We can't wait to share this space with you, and all of the new possibilities this building will bring to the community!

Laurel will be stopping by our September HPCA meeting. She is a Librarian II and assistant manager at the Freed-Montrose Library, and is passionate about serving the community. She has recently developed two adult programs, Bad Art Club and Storytime for Grown-ups, that are currently being hosted at the Freed-Montrose library location on a monthly basis. Drop by the library to say hello and to see the multitude of resources that Houston Public Library has to offer!

Why is Joining the Hyde Park Civic Association Important?

Your engagement keeps the HPCA Board on track. We want to magnify your voice with our city leaders. We want to create fun community events, know our neighbors, and help keep Hyde Park a fantastic neighborhood to live. But we need your support - both volunteers, and financially with your membership. Your membership dollars supports things like this newsletter, National Night Out, decorating for the holidays, etc. Even a few hours a year volunteering for things like tree trimming, National Night Out, concert at the park will help!

Each of the board members works hard to represent your interests, bring meaningful speakers to our events, and work on things like deed restrictions and have a voice with our vibrant businesses in Hyde Park and the surrounding Montrose neighborhood.

Short Term Goals of a Civic Association

By joining our civic association you can: Express your desires for your neighborhood. Learn the perspectives of your neighbors. Organize your neighborhood to-do list (crime rate, anyone?). Seek discussion and congeal the ideas on those projects most valuable to most neighbors (TIRZ, construction). Implement those projects you have the resources to complete (Lamar Park improvements). Seek assistance and partnership from individuals and groups, private companies and government for those projects beyond your reach (connect with our vibrant businesses!)

Long Term Goals of a Civic Association

Organize neighborhood projects so existing projects gain value from the implementation or construction of the current project (bike lanes). Join umbrella neighborhood organizations to include your neighborhood's plans to region-wide plans. Ensure your Hyde Park is part of larger projects at work. Seek out planning information, from government offices (we frequently talk to Council Member Abbie Kamin).

HPCA is here to serve you, but needs your active engagement!
Sign up at National Night Out, or our website: hydeparkhouston.org.
